Is ALL policy gendered?

- Stereotypes about male and female spheres affect when we consider something to be gendered and not.
- This can result in reinforcing gender stereotypes and –inequality.
- Women are more than 50% of the population, which means that all policy areas have a gendered aspect to them.
- About rights, justice and democracy – EP representing all citizens and not just a few.
- Also about quality of services and economic gain.
What is gender mainstreaming?

Article 8 TFEU

“Gender Mainstreaming is not a goal in itself but a strategy to achieve equality between women and men. It is used to integrate gender concerns into all policies, and programmes of the European Union institutions and Member States”.

- Gender mainstreaming is BOTH a proactive and a reactive tool – it is both about incorporating a gender perspective in all policy areas, at all levels and stand-alone initiatives for gender equality.
- Gender mainstreaming is an effective tool to create policies and legislation that is based on a truly democratic ground – for all citizens.
- Gender mainstreaming is a means to an end, and not an end in itself.
Why gender mainstreaming?

• There is a power imbalance between men and women
• This gender inequality is a major obstacle for democracy, human rights and quality of lives for a majority of global citizens
• Sexism, stereotypes, violence, unequal distribution of power and resources affects most aspects of women’s lives
• Only by mobilizing political will can we change this
• Gender mainstreaming gives policy makers practical, mandatory tools to include a gender perspective as a part of the “natural order of things”
THE STATE OF GENDER EQUALITY

1. Globally, 22.5% of MPs are women. In the EP, the number is 37%.
2. 7 out of 10 people living in poverty are women.
3. 1 in 3 women are victims of men's violence.
4. In 4 European countries, women do not have access to safe and legal abortions.

1 in 5 is a victim of rape.

This is why we need gender mainstreaming.
Gender mainstreaming example

Snow removal in Karlskoga, Sweden

- Not “typically” considered to have a gendered aspect to it
- Evaluating impact for ALL citizens
- Changing priorities, where women’s conditions, priorities and opportunities are taken into account
- Win-win solution
Putting on your gender glasses

- Vulnerability
- Gender impact assessment
- Dependency
- Transparency
- Communication
- Norms and values
- Stakeholder analysis
- Stereotypes
- Rights, resources, representation
- Inclusion
- Accountability
- Opportunities
Six priority areas – EU Strategy

• Achieving equal economic independence for women & men
• Enhancing reconciliation of work, private and family life
• Promoting equal participation of women and men in decision-making
• Eradicating gender-based violence and trafficking
• Eliminating gender stereotypes in society
• Promoting gender equality outside the EU

• AND: Taking particular consideration to women facing multiple oppressions, e.g. women of color, migrant women, women with disabilities, lesbians, girls, etc.
Example of bad practice...
Step-by-step guide

• Is the policy area gender-relevant?
• Gather data and information
• Map the stakeholders
• Gender impact assessment
• Design the policy
• Implementation
• Monitoring and evaluation
The diversity of women

- A 20 year old female student living in an urban area
- A 45 year old transgender woman
- An undocumented migrant woman, living in a small town
- A 56 year old woman of color, CEO of a large corporation
- A 15 year old lesbian girl, with bipolar disorder

- What do these women have in common?
- Where are the divergences?
- In gender mainstreaming it is essential to look to the diversity of women as a group and take into account aspects such as age, social class, ethnicity, sexuality, gender identity, religion, functionality and citizenship status etc.
Your role

• Ambassadors for a gender equal Europe
• Make sure the EP sticks to its commitment to gender equality and women’s rights
• Bring knowledge and experience into your Committees, develop a Committee strategy on gender mainstreaming
• Be a watchdog of gender mainstreaming: propose tools to monitor and evaluate the work on GM, make sure that recommendations are effectively implemented
• Provoke action beyond the visible aspects (beyond gender-balanced groups or gender-neutral language)
Connect with civil society

• The European Women’s Lobby is the largest umbrella organisation for women’s rights in the EU.
• The EWL works on a wide range of areas, and has extensive expertise when it comes to gender equality policies and women’s rights.
• You can reach out to us for consultancies, assistance in writing reports, amendments or opinions, for publications and position papers
• We can help you meet women’s organisations in your country, give you ideas of speakers for events in the EP, and put you in touch with other NGOs
